DISCLAIMER

CIGARETTES

Key Data Findings

2024 Developments

A complex socioeconomic environment favours the growth of the illicit cigarette trade

British American Tobacco Plc maintains a broad leadership although it faces complications from the cessation of its local production

Small local grocers remains relevant due to the broad reach of this channel, although it faces increasing pressure from the development of convenience stores

Prospects and Opportunities

An unfavourable outlook for cigarettes, given the declining prevalence of smoking and the increasing illicit trade

The withdrawal of the British American Tobacco Plc plant from Honduras potentially creates opportunities for competitors

Low premiumisation prospects limit opportunities to introduce sophisticated cigarette innovations

CIGARS, CIGARILLOS AND SMOKING TOBACCO

Key Data Findings

2024 Developments

Despite significant local cigar production, local consumption is low; the economic climate is not conducive to the development of this category
Honduran companies are consolidating their solid international reputation in cigars, although this does not equate to the significant development of the local market

The digitalisation of purchasing is advancing in Honduras, although it is still concentrated among demographic groups with greater purchasing power
Prospects and Opportunities

Honduran cigar production continues to expand, but does not find a favourable environment for growth in local consumption

Emerging brands seek to democratise cigars and cigarillos with less expensive options and more subtle flavours

Niche e-vapour alternatives seek to emulate the sensory experience of cigars and appeal to younger generations

SMOKELESS TOBACCO, E-VAPOUR PRODUCTS AND HEATED TOBACCO

Key Data Findings

2024 Developments

E-vapour products category expands with the formal entry of global brands

Dynamic competition in disposable e-vapour products with more affordable prices, favours the evolution of the category

Major supermarket and convenience store chains expand e-vapour distribution in Honduras

Prospects and Opportunities

Affordable prices and generational shifts in tastes drive continued growth of closed system single-use e-vapour products in Honduras

Public awareness rises around the potential health risks attributed to vaping

Innovations aim for new functional positioning with health benefit attributes
